⁷ Studio art and art-related electives may include courses from graphic design, interior design, art education, and internships but excludes courses taken to fulfill the studio concentration.

⁸ Either the Group 2 Science or the Group 3 Science must include a lab.

Studio Art Entrance Portfolio Review for TRANSFER STUDENTS:

All transfer students intending to major in studio art, graphic design or interior architecture are required to submit a portfolio for review. Participating in a portfolio review and interview is seen as evidence of a student's interest and potential for future success in art; it is also an opportunity to be considered for nomination for an art scholarship (all scholarship awards are based on merit and vary in amount, up to the full cost of tuition).

All transfer students (who need to also apply to JMU), are required to submit their art portfolio on the School of Art, Design and Art History SlideRoom drop box jmuart.slideroom.com. In addition to submitting your portfolio, please be prepared to upload copies of your unofficial college/university transcripts as well as your statement of intent. Dates for portfolio feedback sessions as well as the deadline for submitting portfolios to SlideRoom are found on the school's webpage.

Please note that additional portfolio reviews are required for students interested in majoring in Graphic Design (GRPH) and Interior Architecture (IARC). To ensure timely completion of all degree and major requirements, students need to be keenly aware of specific course sequencing required for Graphic Design and Interior Architecture majors.
